TINY HOUSE, BIG LIVING COMES TO DESTINY RIDGE VINEYARD

Alexandria Nicole Cellars appears on HGTV Tiny House, Big Living on Monday, August 3 at 6pm or 9pm (depending on carrier & time zone)

Paterson, WA, July 30, 2015– Alexandria Nicole Cellars prides themselves on providing "cutting edge" experiences for their wine club members. This spring their cult style wine club following has been abuzz with excitement as the club will receive national coverage on HGTV Tiny House, Big Living. Next Monday evening, August 3, (6:00pm or 9:00pm depending on your carrier & time zone) HGTV will show the rest of the country a tiny taste of the award winning experience Alexandria Nicole Cellars has been serving up for years as viewers watch them parlay their previous glamping experience into a much more upscale "tiny house" experience for their wine club members to enjoy.

In March, the former tent platforms were removed to make room for the building of two tiny houses as part of building competition between two construction companies, Elite Construction of Kennewick, Washington and Finishing Touches of Renton, Washington.

They pitted builder against builder and let the nails fall where they may. With the only criteria being that, each house includes wine on tap, red roofs to match the winery, and a complete kitchen, bathroom, and bedroom. "What they created far exceeded our expectations" Jarrod Boyle, Winemaker and CEO stated. "The motivation behind this project was to give our wine club members a world class wine experience and I'm confident that they will be thrilled at what the builders came up with" added Ali Boyle, Marketing Director, and Winemakers Wife the title she lovingly shows on her business card.

Both tiny houses are unique, beautiful in their own right, and true to tiny house standards no more than 400 square feet. With Terence L. Thornhill, Architect, helping to ensure that the Elite house was decked out in ultra modern design with high-end multimedia twists and turns while the Finishing Touches house actually boasts a twisting roofline. This small family business known for creating "stairs for the stars" in the Seattle area, took on the challenge having never built a house from start to finish. Along the way they created one of the most unique rooflines ever to be seen in a tiny home, they also incorporated many repurposed materials which is in keeping with the tiny house mantra reduce, reuse, recycle.

As the two week long competition plays out viewers will get to experience the real life exhaustion of both builder and maker as they strive to create the very best for their members.

Fans of Tiny House Giant Journey will see their favorite tiny house dwelling couple chose the winner of the competition. However, in the eyes of Alexandria Nicole Cellars, the winner has not yet been chosen until their wine club members vote on Facebook (www.facebook.com/ancwine) for their favorite and the winner will be announced at their Harvest Party on August 29.

The Tiny Houses are available to rent by Alexandria Nicole Cellars wine club members on their website www.ancwines.com. To learn more about becoming a wine club member visit the website or stop into one of their three tasting rooms in Prosser, Woodinville, and Paterson, Washington. The houses were built over a few short weeks this spring at Destiny Ridge Vineyard overlooking the Columbia River near Crowe Butte Park on Highway 14.
